

UNDERSTANDING PARTNERING FOR PROGRESS

The City of San Diego Planning Department wants to work with community-based organizations and community members to reduce barriers and create a streamlined process for public-private partnerships. Doing this will ensure efficient delivery of public infrastructure that is community-led, meaningful and enjoyable for people of all age groups and abilities.

Planning staff will create partnerships that will enable the City to better deliver public infrastructure in areas with the greatest needs and greatest growth. It is anticipated that this process will engage various city organizations and community partners to identify opportunities for efficiency, coordination and cooperation.

Case studies will be identified nationally and locally. This will lay the groundwork for research efforts. Stakeholders and City leaders will be interviewed to discover successes and failures when working with the City. These meetings will provide powerful insights into how the community and City have worked together.

The City is looking to gather examples of experiences organizations and individuals have had when working or when trying to work on a project with the City. The City of San Diego wants to better understand and identify deficiencies, barriers and opportunities for improvements.

Please identify these experiences using this survey <https://datasd.typeform.com/pfp-experience>

GOALS

At the heart of this initiative is a commitment to create a better future for our city. We recognize we can achieve much more by working together than we ever could alone. Through collaboration, we can leverage additional funding, coordinate processes and more effectively deliver critical infrastructure to areas that need it most. Through this engagement effort, we aim to:

- Identify how City departments, community-serving organizations and private interests can best work together to achieve common goals.
- Simplify and encourage community investments, which will ultimately help build stronger communities and improve everyone's quality of life.

Everyone deserves access to infrastructure and facilities that meet their needs. This effort is a critical component in making this vision a reality. We are excited to work together with our partners to create a better future for our city, and we are committed to making a positive impact that will endure for years to come.

We hope to promote the construction of projects that are:

Innovative

Collaborative

Quick to Implement

Reflective of Community Needs and wants

PUBLIC ENGAGEMENT TIMELINE

Community involvement is extremely important to the City and the input received from our communities will drive the decision-making process. The graphic below provides a quick snapshot of our expected timeline.

QUICK-BUILD PILOT PROJECT

At the conclusion of this initiative, the City wants to work with your organizations to deploy a quick-build project in a neighborhood. These types of projects are usually small-scale, community-led and temporary. They are meant to show what a future investment could look like, as well as inspire more permanent change.
